Following is text of UK statement on China controls made in CHINGOM
May 27.

BEGIN VERBATIM:

QUOTE

HMG have considered their position in light of discussions which have recently taken place in China Committee on French proposal and various other counterproposals and have instructed me to make following statement concerning controls over strategic exports to China, North Vietnam and North Korea.

2. Certain over-riding considerations govern their attitude. They are as follows:

(A) Effective, agreed and acceptable system of strategic controls towards China and Soviet bloc is in mutual security interests of free world. HMG intend to continue their established policy of cooperating with all member governments in supporting this system.

(B) Only basis for effective and acceptable control towards China is one which abolishes differential lists and controls and which receives willing cooperation of governments and traders.

(C) Recent discussions in committee have made clear strong desire of all all those countries that actively trade with China to abolish differential controls. HMG considered that this expression of views fully supports decision they intend to take.

(D) HMG wish to cooperate in putting into effect principles enunciated in French proposal, namely, unanimity and simultaneity of applications and elimination of any geographic or other distinctions likely to lead to differences of treatment.

3. Those, then, are considerations guiding HMG at this moment, namely, desire for effective and acceptable controls, brought about by abolition of differential, in accordance with wish of countries that trade with China. It is because they firmly held to these considerations that HMG steadfastly supported and continue to support French proposal.

4. Nevertheless HMG would certainly have preferred that there should have been completely unanimous agreement, and they have noted strong desire, which they share, to find basis for agreement. They therefore examined second compromise proposal (proposal B) with extreme care before they reluctantly decided that, in form in which it was presented, it did not provide basis for unanimous agreement. It unfortunately maintained strict controls over List II items, which are only under quantitative control for Soviet bloc. In HMG opinion this would have caused continued bitterness and recrimination in UK and within China committee. It would have meant that HMG would have been under constant pressure to go back on any agreement reached, and it would only have harmed good international relation that exist in other more important spheres. This lack of provision for List II exports was essence of problem presented by last compromise proposal.

5. HMG however, wish to promote cooperation in this field, and hope that similar cooperation will be forthcoming from all members of committee. They therefore announce in advance (A) that they will most willingly join forthwith in procedure of fixing quotas, which they hope can be begun as soon as possible, and also (B) that they are ready to see quotas on certain items kept as low as possible. Details can be worked out in course of List II review in this committee.

6. HMG regret that for reasons already given they cannot agree to maintain any special exceptions procedure for List III, and they intend to free from any form of embargo or control all items on China consolidated list.

7. As far as List III items are concerned, however, HMG have noted that second compromise proposal suggested system of special reporting. In order to comply with spirit of this proposal HMG are prepared to speed up "surveillance" or watch procedure, in order to enable China committee to have full statistical information on List III exports to

China

China more rapidly than has recently happened over List III exports to Soviet bloc.

8. HMG intend to make statement in Parliament during this week, possibly on Wednesday, May 29, and certainly not before May 29.
